

AK Ostrów 1947 wins the U17 tournament

The fourth tournament of the U17 category took place in the Polish city of Ostrów Wielkopolski. And the home team AK Ostrów 1947, who did not lose a single match, also dominated the tournament. The "big fun" took place in other positions, where teams beat each other and who would win the next medals was quite unclear until the last moment.

The first match of the tournament offered an interesting spectacle. The home team AK Ostrów 1947 played an interesting game with the Slovak team BKM Iskra Svit . The first quarter belonged to the Slovak team, then the home team took a slight lead, which eventually won by thirteen points in the end. In the second match, the Polish team KS Korona 1919 RadwanSport Kraków met another Polish team SKM Zastal Zielona Góra . Zastal would probably like to forget this "meeting" soon, because Krakow did not take any chances and defeated its rival by a difference of almost thirty points. On the other hand, the match between the German teams Science City Jena and Basketball Talents Potsdam brought real drama. The balanced and fighting performance of both teams was ultimately better handled by the team from Potsdam in the end, winning by only two points.

Saturday morning showed how thin the line is between success and failure. Krakow finished second in the final standings, Svit sixth, but in this match there was almost no difference between the teams. In the first quarter, Krakow gained an eight-point lead, then Svit recovered and was in the lead for the next two quarters. However, the last quarter belonged to the team from Krakow, who squeezed out a two-point win. In the afternoon program, Jena thoroughly tested the home team, having fought a perfectly even fight for three quarters, but thanks to the individual performance of player Igora Szlachetky , who scored 33 points, they ultimately lost by a margin of thirteen points.

On Sunday, Jena will defeat Svit. Potsdam, who played a balanced half with Krakow, but were definitely not happy with the final result, losing by a difference of thirty-five points. The tournament closes with the home team, who wins a controlled victory over Zastal and thanks to that also confirms the gold medal win.
